WE WON'T FORGET FUKUSHIMA

11 March 2011 – 11 March 2013

"No declaration by the government that the "alarm has ceased", nor its promise that our nuclear energy is "the safest in the world" can ever give us back the lives that have been lost, the families that have been split up, the friends that have been torn away from us, the loss of our houses, jobs and interior calm, or our beloved Fukushima..."

These words, written by the Women from Fukushima 'No more Nuclear Power' group, are terrible. So awful that neither do we want to, nor must we forget. It seems, however, that the new Japanese government has not learned any lessons: it has already declared that it wants to relaunch nuclear power, start up the nuclear plants that were idled after the Fukushima disaster and build new ones. All this must be resisted.

In the referendum held on 12-13 June 2011, the Italians clearly indicated that they are against the use of nuclear energy. Yet we cannot rest until the last nuclear power plant has been shut down. This is why on the second anniversary of the Fukushima disaster Legambiente (League for the Environment), together with the Documentation Centre the Seeds Beneath the Snow, support the invitation made by the Women from Fukushima, and in our turn we invite everyone to send messages of solidarity to the children, the women and men of Fukushima who continue to suffer, and to the people of Japan, hoping that they too will be able to free themselves from dangerous nuclear plants.
